INTRODUCTION

The purpose of this Study Material Guide is to provide group leaders at Riverstone Church with a substantial, curated library of resources from which to draw study material for their groups. For the sake of consistency and doctrinal integrity, we would ask leaders to only choose studies from among those listed. Within this guide, groups are free to choose whatever they want to study. If there is study material you would like to use that is not listed, please talk to your group coach or ministry leader about it first for approval.

A few notes on study material in general:

- Study material in this guide generally falls into one of two basic categories:

Print-based Study: Study material that is based on some form of print media. This could either be (1) a book, (2) a study guide that accompanies a book, or (3) a stand-alone workbook. There also may be an accompanying leader guide for studies that complement either a stand-alone workbook or a study guide. Some workbooks have leader guides included. You will have to check on what each individual study requires.

Video-based Study: Study material that is built around video sessions on DVD or available in other digital formats. Most of these studies will also include an accompanying study guide. Studies marked “Church owned” are owned by Riverstone Church and can be borrowed if available. Studies marked contact us are not currently owned by the church, but we would be interested in purchasing them if you would like to use them.

- Groups and leaders are responsible for purchasing their own study material, with the exception of DVDs owned by the church. If there is ever a financial issue that would prevent a leader or group member from purchasing material on their own, please contact the church office and we can talk about assistance on a case by case basis.
- If you are viewing this document as a PDF, anywhere you see blue underlined text, you can click it and it will link you to the website where you can purchase the material. You can also type in an item’s ISBN number at Amazon or in a search engine to find where it can be purchased.

A FEW NOTES ON CHOOSING STUDIES

As a group leader, it is your responsibility to direct your group's interaction with biblical truth by choosing what your group will study. You can choose with your group's interaction and feedback, but in the end it up to you to choose what you think is best for the group that you are shepherding.

It is possible that your group may want to do a "simple" Bible study—that is, a study of a biblical book without the aid of study guides or other external material. If this is the case, we would recommend that you familiarize yourself with an inductive method of Bible study such as taught in the Riverstone study course "Mining God's Word: How to Study the Bible" or in books like Knowable Word by Peter Krol or Women of the Word by Jen Wilkin.

We would also strongly recommend visiting Peter Krol's website at <http://www.knowableword.com/>. Krol has a series of helpful posts that will assist in your preparation and leading:

- How to Lead a Bible Study
- How to Study the Bible
 - Overview
 - Details
- Bible Study Resources

Please keep in mind that no study material, author, or teacher, no matter how helpful, is our authority. Our highest and final authority is the written Word of God. As you work through your study material, you may come across things that are not fully in-line with how you or others in your group interpret Scripture. If this happens, it provides a good opportunity to 1) remind those in your group that Scripture, not an author, teacher, book, or study guide, is the ultimate authority and 2) engage in a sort of "case study" by asking group members to think through what Scripture teaches on the topic and comparing it to what the study material says. It is an opportunity to do as Paul has said: "Examine everything carefully, hold fast to what is good" (1 Thess 5:21).

You may also find in situations like this that members of your group disagree on various doctrinal or interpretive points. Part of the ethos of the Evangelical Free Church is that we are willing to debate these issues, but we won't divide over them. In these situations, we encourage you to engage in discussions with a focus on being charitable and gentle towards others. If you notice, however, that there is teaching in study material or by a member of your group that falls outside of our doctrinal statement, please notify the pastoral staff so that we can respond appropriately.

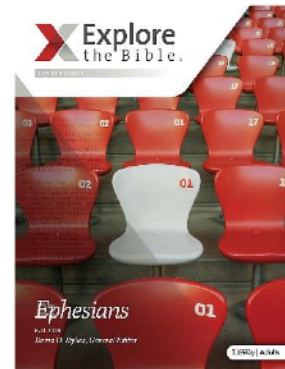

If you have any questions about study material, or what kind of study will be best for your group, please don't hesitate to ask your group coach or ministry leader for their advice or recommendation.

THE SHORT LIST

If you don't know what you'd like to do with your group, one of these studies are be a good place to start.

EPHESIANS (EXPLORE THE BIBLE, FALL 2019)

God doesn't just want us to read His Word, He wants us to know it and live its truth. That's why Explore the Bible studies takes groups book by book through Scripture, framing every passage in its appropriate biblical and cultural context. This fall the Explore the Bible study is Ephesians (13 sessions)

- Explore the Bible: Ephesians Leader Guide

An exceptional teaching resource for adult groups of all ages with 13 Bible study sessions that dig deeply into the Bible and offer vital life-application for today. The Leader Guide includes flexible teaching plans that are specially designed for small group study. Includes commentary and step-by-step teaching plans, optional teaching plans for different learning styles, and questions for thought-provoking group discussions
- Explore the Bible: Ephesians Personal Study Guide

Designed to help adults prepare before the meeting, facilitate discovery during the session, and encourage application after study time. Includes Scripture, commentary, discussion questions, memory verses, a Bible reading plan, and additional helps so individuals can apply the lessons.
- Explore the Bible: Ephesians Daily Discipleship Guide

An alternative to the Personal Study Guide. The Daily Discipleship Guide cultivates a deeper understanding of Scripture through daily Bible reading. Instead of studying beforehand, participants attend the group, learn from the material and discussion, and then build on that using five daily directed Bible studies through the week. Guests, and previously absent participants, will feel like they haven't missed anything and can comfortably join the discussion.
- Explore the Bible: Ephesians Commentary

Covers the biblical context and historical background of study passages in great depth, exploring the meaning of words, phrases, and concepts in the biblical languages. It can be used by leaders and group participants alike. The content encompasses all 13 sessions of this quarter's study, Ephesians.
